- More frequent breaks during and between academic sessions
- More opportunities to withdraw or drop a class and still remain TOPS eligible

PROGRAMS PROVIDED BY BARC

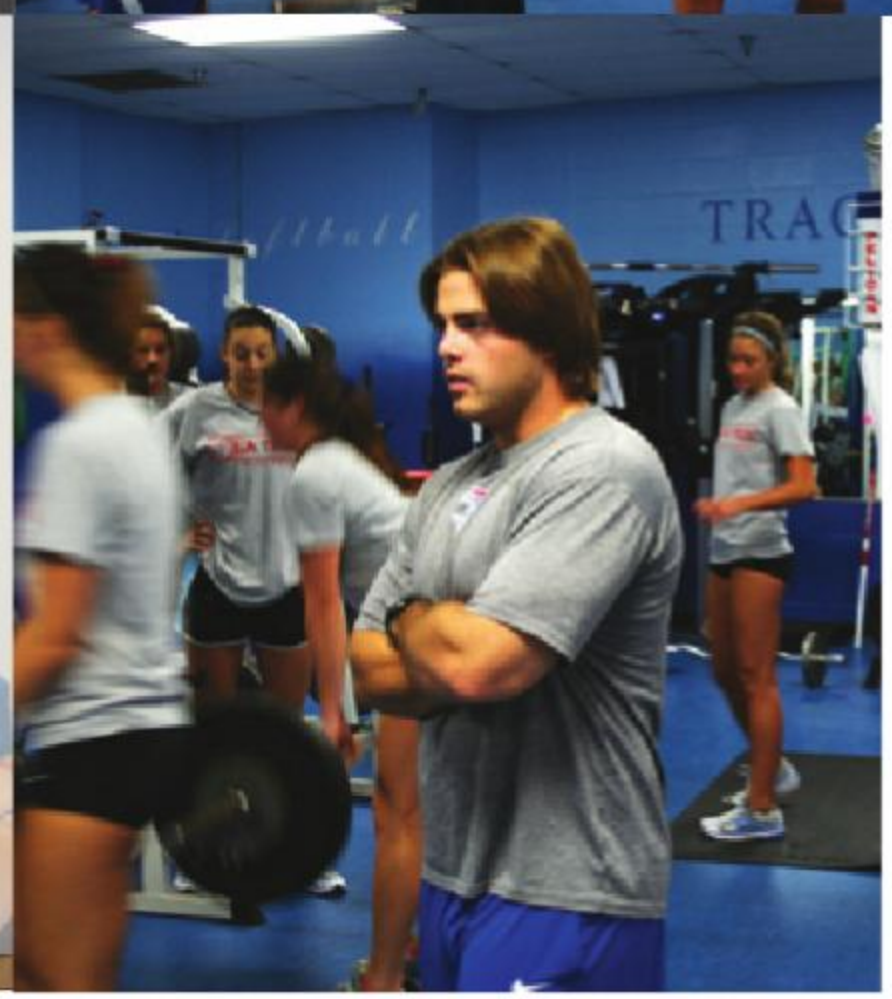
He is in charge of the Dr. William Bundrick Sports Medicine Center and taking care of the Bulldog football players.



Louisiana Tech football can claim one of the top orthopedic surgeons in the country as one of its own. Dr. William Bundrick lettered for the Bulldogs in the late 1950s before graduating and moving on to the LSU Medical School in New Orleans. Today, he is not only the Bulldogs team physician, but he is also the benefactor of the Sports Medicine Department located in the Charles Wyly Athletic Center – home of the Tech football program.

KARL MALONE WEIGHTROOM

DAMON HARRINGTON is the head strength and conditioning coach at Louisiana Tech and is a certified member of the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association. During his five years at LA Tech, 23 of the Bulldogs strength and conditioning records have been broken.

- 8 powerlift nine-foot combo power racks with platforms
- 8 powerlift glute ham machines
- 15 hammer strength machines
- 2 sets of iron grip GX dumb bells (5 to 150 lbs)

Louisiana Tech legend Karl Malone recently funded the new state-of-the-art equipment in the Karl Malone Weightroom. Malone was considered one of the most well-conditioned athletes in the history of the NBA. He returned to Louisiana Tech in 2007 as a member of the strength and conditioning staff while also assisting with marketing the university's athletic programs.

Last season, Matt Sonnichsen's squad finished 15-18 overall, finishing eighth in the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) with a 4-12 record. The 15 wins marked the most overall for the Louisiana Tech program since 2005 and was an 11-game improvement from the 2008 season when the Lady Techsters finished with a 4-24 record.

Entering his 12th season as an NCAA head coach, Sonnichsen has posted a 159-161 (.497) record, winning 20 or more matches on three occasions and has led his teams to five winning seasons. He enters his third season at the helm of the Louisiana Tech volleyball program, posting a 19-42 overall record.

Prior to joining the Louisiana Tech staff, Sonnichsen spent one season at Newberry College where he played in an integral role in perhaps one of the biggest turnarounds in the history of the South Atlantic Conference. After the Lady Indians finished 4-30 in 2006, Sonnichsen's 2007 squad finished with a 19-9 overall record and a fourth place finish in the league. The 19 wins marked the most in program history since Newberry joined the NCAA in 1991.

In 2006, Sonnichsen spent time at Grinnell College in Grinnell, Iowa where he was an assistant coach under his father, Tom. Before joining his father at Grinnell, Sonnichsen was the top assistant coach at the University of California at Santa Barbara. While at UCSB, he was responsible for team training, international student-athlete recruitment and team travel.

Perhaps his most impressive coaching stint was during his eight seasons at Tulsa where he compiled a 121-110 (.524) record, leading the Golden Hurricanes to three 20-win seasons. During his tenure at TU, his teams established numerous school records, including the best start in school history (11-0 in 2000). Although the Golden Hurricanes accomplished many feats on the court, they excelled in the classroom as well. Under Sonnichsen's direction, his players earned AVCA Academic All-America honors as a team for five consecutive years (1999-2003). Sonnichsen left TU following the 2005 season and remains the winningest coach in school history.

Before entering the coaching field, the Spring, Texas native was a standout four-year letterwinner at UCLA, where he was a three-time all-American setter and led the Bruins to NCAA Championships in both 1987 and 1989. After competing with the U.S. Senior National Team at the 1990 Goodwill Games, he went on to play professionally for four years (1992-95) on the AVP tour as well as in the Swiss indoor league.

Sonnichsen earned his bachelor's degree in economics from UCLA in 1989. He is married to the former Stacy Smith, and they have one daughter, Jane.

ASSISTANT COACH CHRISTY STEGALL

Christy Stegall enters her third year with the Louisiana Tech volleyball team as the assistant coach under head coach Matt Sonnichsen.

"We are very fortunate to have Christy as our assistant coach. She provides the best of both worlds because she played for me while she was in college," Sonnichsen said. "She understands the system and the mentality of what it takes to be a student-athlete. She does all of the things that I can't. She is very detail-oriented and relates very well with the student-athletes."

In addition to her role as assistant coach at Louisiana Tech, Stegall serves as co-recruiting coordinator and team video coordinator. She also assists with various summer camps and coaching clinics throughout the country.

Stegall's defensive knowledge of the libero position and instruction was instrumental in the Lady Techsters leading the WAC with 1769 digs, averaging 14.38 per set during the 2009 season.

The Fort Mill, South Carolina native enjoyed an illustrious career at Newberry College from 2004 to 2007. A three-time letterwinner at the libero position for Newberry, she was instrumental in one of the biggest turnarounds in the history of the South Atlantic Conference during her senior season. After the Lady Indians finished 4-30 in 2006, the 2007 squad finished 19-9 overall and in fourth place in the conference as Stegall recorded 246 digs on the year. Stegall finished her career at Newberry ranked ninth all-time with 779 career digs, including a season-high of 322 digs in 2005, which ranks 10th all-time in program history.

While at Newberry, Stegall was actively involved in extracurricular activities as she was a member of the Alpha Xi Delta Fraternity, where she served as the Panhellenic President, and the Chi Beta Phi National Science and Math Fraternity. Stegall earned her bachelor's degree in biology as well as minors in art, math and Spanish from Newberry in the spring of 2008.

2010 OUTLOOK

Losing just one starter from last year's team that won 15 matches, the most since 2005, Louisiana Tech aims to improve upon last year's success as they look toward the upcoming 2010 season.

"We're not going to have one player who is the shining star and everybody else is kind of helping her," said head coach Matt Sonnichsen. "We're not going to have someone who is averaging eight kills a game; however, we are going to have 12 or 13 players that are all going to do their job to make us better."

With the influx of three newcomers to a roster that already features 10 returning letterwinners, expectations are high on the Ruston campus. The main reason for these raised expectations are due to hard work, dedication in the off-season and a coaching staff that legitimately cares for the well-being and prosperity of their student-athletes.

"I think that Christy Stegall has done a great job and I think the program in general has done a good job of getting good players that are good people," said Sonnichsen. "They are unselfish, they are tough workers and they are supportive of each other and they have fun. I think if you put that together with God-given talent, some good things can happen. That is the direction that we want to go with the program."

Outside Hitter

With four returning letterwinners, the outside hitter position will feature one newcomer this season that will be expected to add immediate depth to a talented roster and perhaps push for a slot in the starting lineup.

Although she is recovering well from off-season shoulder surgery, junior Nataliya Panova, an all-Louisiana and Newcomer of the Year honoree by the Louisiana Sports Writers Association, will miss the upcoming 2010 season and will redshirt. As a transfer from the University of Houston, Panova finished the season ranked first on the team and second in the WAC with 10 double-doubles, leading all Lady Techsters with 284 kills while finishing second on the team with 322 digs and 19 service aces.

With Panova's absence, incoming freshman and Brazilian native, Clara Vido will be called upon to contribute immediately to a position that already features three returning starters, headlined by seniors Jennifer Goodwin and Kassia Pinto.

"We should have plenty of experience at the outside hitter position and Clara Vido should empower the veterans to take their game to new heights," said head coach Matt Sonnichsen. "This year, our student-athletes will be expected to be consistent in their abilities."

Amongst the returning starters, Goodwin started 32 matches while playing in all 33 as a transfer from Blinn College. She finished fifth on the team with 164 kills and third with 284 digs, recording a season-high six blocks and 17 digs in a match versus Jacksonville.

Starting 26 matches while seeing action in 29, Pinto returns to the team after finishing second on the team and fifth in the WAC with seven double-doubles. Leading all Lady Techsters with 27 service aces, Pinto finished the 2009 campaign ranked third on the team with 175 kills and fourth on the team with 272 digs. With Panova missing time due to injury, Pinto will play a critical role in the success of the Lady Techsters this season as she hopes to improve upon her 2009 season.

Also returning this season to Louisiana Tech is senior Taylor Fritz. The Spring, Texas native provided depth and a spark off of the bench for the Lady Techsters as she played in 22 matches last season, contributing 40 kills and 71 digs to the squad. Fritz will provide much needed depth to the outside hitter position for the 2010 campaign.

Middle Blocker

With the loss of second team all-WAC performer, KC Clayton, the Lady Techsters will be looking to fill a void at the middle blocker position. Clayton played an integral part as a senior in the team's 11-win turnaround from 2008. She recorded 246 kills on the year as well as a .224 hitting percentage while helping the Lady Techsters tie the school record for WAC wins in a season. The Tucson, Arizona native climbed to third place in school history in blocks (383) after totaling 102 during the 2009 campaign.

Despite the loss of Clayton, veteran and three-year starter, senior Kara Jones, returns to the Louisiana Tech program with high expectations. The Moody, Texas native started 32 matches and was a force at the net for the Lady Techsters in 2009, leading the team and the WAC with 32 solo blocks last season and a .258 hitting percentage. With 296 career blocks to her credit, the second team all-Louisiana honoree will figure to be a key cog to a talented crop of middle blockers.

"Even with the loss of KC Clayton and Samantha (Crowder), middle blocker will be our strength this season," said Sonnichsen. "With a dynamic four-year starter in Kara Jones returning with the talents of Gabryel Ording and newcomers Emily Maher and Caitlin Germany, the middle blocker position figures to feature loads of talent and ought to be competitive in terms of playing time."

Gabryel Ording, a Custer Park, Illinois native, enters her third year in the Louisiana Tech system. The redshirt sophomore saw action in seven matches last season while totaling 10 kills and seven blocks on the season. With the loss of two upperclassmen, Ording figures to be a key role player this season.

With only one upperclassman on the roster, transfer Emily Maher and freshman Caitlin Germany look to make an immediate impact for the 2010 Lady Techsters. As a redshirt freshman at Southeast Missouri State, Maher recorded 175 kills, 59 digs and 85 blocks while starting in 25 matches last season. Germany, a district 18-4A first-team honoree, comes to Louisiana Tech from Huntsville High School in Huntsville, Texas. Standing at 6-3, the prep standout feature tremendous upside and will likely see playing time as a true freshman.

2010 LADY TECHSTER VOLLEYBALL

Setter

The Lady Techsters return two veteran setters, both in their third year in the Louisiana Tech program.

"Bianca Bin had a nice season last year. During spring drills, Mallory (Stanley) pushed Bianca and had an excellent spring," said Sonnichsen. "It is nice to have two veterans in that position."

Bin started all 33 matches last season, finishing the year ranked third in the WAC with 963 total assists. The Brazilian native totaled at least 30 assists in 18 matches and reached the 40 assist plateau on six occasions; including a career-high mark of 48 assists in Tech's first ever win over Utah State.

Making the move from libero to setter during the 2009 off-season, Stanley played in 17 matches for the Lady Techsters as the back-up setter. The Stockton, Missouri native committed just two attacking errors and totaled 86 assists on the season, including a season-high of 27 assists against UAPB.

Libero

In similar fashion with the setter position, the libero position features two upperclassmen with a plethora of experience in senior Lori Hunsucker and junior Kaylon Alexander.

Hunsucker started all 33 matches last season and was instrumental in helping Tech lead the WAC in total digs as she led the team with 447. Her 447 total digs was third in the WAC and fifth all-time in Tech history. She recorded 20-plus digs on four occasions and had 19 digs in a three set win over Nevada; the programs first ever win over Nevada.

"Lori was the unsung hero of last year's squad," said Sonnichsen. "She has a quiet intensity about her and is very good at what she does without being flashy."

Playing in 20 matches last season, Alexander returns to the Lady Techsters after seeing action primarily as the back-up libero. The Katy, Texas native totaled 45 digs and four aces on the season while recording a season-high nine digs on two occasions. Alexander is expected to challenge Hunsucker for a slot in the starting lineup as her talents and potential feature plenty of upside.

DR. DAN RENEAU

University President

There's a lot to look forward to at Louisiana Tech, as university President Dan Reneau knows well. The university is growing with the increased enrollment of students and the construction of new facilities.

Under Reneau's leadership, the university is on track in its long-term Tech 2020 goal, a strategy to ensure the university stays in tune with academic, economic, and research trends in the state, region, and nation.

"The transformation of higher education in Louisiana is taking place before our eyes," Reneau said. "The faculty and staff of Louisiana Tech have chosen to use this transformation as an opportunity to strengthen their institution through a collective and progressive recruitment and retention effort."

The university has continually thrived with Reneau at the helm in a variety of areas, including:

* New construction and renovation of buildings. Currently, the first buildings of Tech's Enterprise Campus are being constructed, and renovations include the expansion of the Maxie Lambright Intramural Center, the Technology Transfer Center and the Visual Arts Center. The $20 million Quest for Excellence initiative was also announced in Summer 2010, and plans are in the works for the construction of a 90,000-plus square-foot multipurpose facility in the south end zone of Joe Aillet Stadium. The new facility will benefit all student athletes and will include a state-of-the-art sports medicine facility, a new strength and conditioning complex and a new academic center.
* All-time high average ACT score of entering freshmen. The average ACT score of beginning freshmen increased from 22.5 in the fall of 2004 to 23.5 in the fall of 2009.
* Received national accolades. The university was ranked among the nation's best colleges and universities and moved up to a Tier 3 ranking by U.S. News and World Report's 2010 Best Colleges publication. In addition, Louisiana Tech achieved the state's highest ranking among public colleges and universities, according to Washington Monthly's 2009 College Rankings.
* Performance-based Funding. Tech fared better than all Louisiana public universities for performance-based funding.
* National bookstore chain comes to campus. Barnes & Noble bought out the bookstore and will offer more book selections with plans to expand in three to five years.
* Increased enrollment recognized. In Fall 2009, Louisiana Tech's total enrollment stood at 11,289 students, which represents an addition of 339 students, an increase of 3.1 percent.

Reneau is leaving a lasting legacy with Louisiana Tech, especially with the engineering program. Reneau graduated with his bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Tech in 1963 and received his master's in the same subject in 1964. He received his Ph.D. in 1966 from Clemson University.

Reneau became a faculty member at Tech in 1967 as an assistant professor of chemical engineering and made his way up the ladder to associate professor in 1969 and a full professor in 1973. Reneau's professional experience includes serving as a research engineer for both Esso and Humble oil companies and as a consultant for five other corporations and universities.

Reneau also has studied abroad at Johannes Gutenburg University in Mainz, West Germany, as an Alexander-von-Humbolt Stiftung visiting professor and also to England at Cambridge and Bristol universities as a visiting professor.

At Tech, Reneau established the biomedical engineering department and was named its head in 1972. The department became the fifth accredited department for its undergraduate curriculum in the United States, and the doctoral program was awarded a commendation of excellence by the Board of Regents.

In 1980, Reneau was promoted to vice president for academic affairs, serving as the chief academic officer to some 400 faculty in six colleges and three professional schools with more than 160 different degree programs. During his tenure as vice president, every major program became accredited, and he was also instrumental in establishing the Center for Biomedical Engineering and Rehabilitation Science.

Reneau was selected as the university's 13th president Feb. 20, 1987, and the public endorsed their new president before the decision was even made. The university paper, The Tech Talk, issued a rare endorsement for the Tech alumnus; the Student Government Association supported his selection through a resolution sent to Baton Rouge; many faculty members circulated a petition for his appointment; and even the Faculty Senate gave Reneau a stamp of approval.

When hurricanes Katrina and Rita devastated the Louisiana coast in 2005, under Reneau's leadership, Tech welcomed hundreds of evacuees and offered them shelter in Caruthers Residence Hall. Tech also opened its doors to students from various universities in New Orleans as well as the Tulane University football team.

Tech continues to flourish under Reneau's leadership. In 2007, the university and its president received a glowing review from a team led by national educational consultant James Fisher.

Tech's graduate programs continue to prosper, as well. A total of ten doctoral degrees are now available at Tech, including a new doctoral program in industrial and organizational psychology that began in 2009. In 2007, Tech produced the first graduate in the world who holds a bachelor's degree in nanosystems engineering. Last year, Tech reported a record graduate student enrollment with graduate enrollment totaling 2,530, an increase of 9.3 percent.

As Tech holds strong to its 2020 goal, progress is echoed by research, such as a study conducted by the Applied Research Technology Corporation of Baton Rouge. The study shows that Louisiana Tech students have an annual statewide spending impact of $145 million and contribute over 56 hours of volunteerism per student, per year. Over the past 10 years, 65 percent of Tech's graduates have stayed in Louisiana with total earnings of nearly $1 billion.

"One of Louisiana Tech's greatest strengths has always been the quality of its students," Reneau said. "Their success, both during and after college, will impact not only the future of our university, but also the future of our region and our state. As a campus community, we have a responsibility to do everything we can to continue recruiting, educating and graduating the next generation of Louisiana's leaders."

Reneau, a native of Woodville, Miss., was born June 11, 1940. He started as a student at Tech in 1959 and met his wife, the former Linda Digby, of Bernice, while a student at Tech. Reneau and his wife have two children, John and Dana, who are both Tech alumni as well. John lives in Las Vegas, and Dana lives in Baton Rouge with her husband, Jim Bernhard, and their two sons, Michael and Ben.

BRUCE VAN DE VELDE

Athletics Director

Bruce Van De Velde was named Louisiana Tech's athletics director in February of 2010 by Louisiana Tech President Dr. Dan Reneau.

"Bruce is well qualified by national standards to fill the position of athletics director at Louisiana Tech," Reneau said. "I feel that we made an excellent choice in selecting him to lead Tech athletics to national prominence and to serve the needs of our student-athletes."

Van De Velde, who joined the University in June of 2008 as deputy athletics director and chief operating officer, took over full leadership of a department that fields 16 NCAA Division I sanctioned programs, including nine women's and seven men's sports, that compete in the highly-competitive Western Athletic Conference.

"It is an honor to be named as the director of athletics at Louisiana Tech University," Van De Velde said. "I look forward to serving our student-athletes, faculty, staff, alumni and fans. Our vision is to build a program to a level where we can be associated with universities that aspire to academic and athletic excellence at the highest level.

"This goal is consistent with the vision President Reneau has established for the University which is to become north Louisiana's premier national research university. In order to accomplish this vision we must engage all of our 80,000 alumni, fans and supporters and ask them for their participation. It takes resources to achieve our goal, and we need every one to support the program."

During his tenure Van De Velde has been instrumental in a number of accomplishments that have helped further the advancement of the University's athletic department, including:

• Developed, negotiated and implemented $6.75 million multi-media and marketing rights agreement with Learfield Communications. Contract more than doubled revenue derived from corporate sponsorships and created state-wide radio network for Louisiana Tech athletics. Negotiated purchase of $1.6 million Daktronics large screen high-definition video board for Joe Aillet Stadium.

• Upgraded ticket operations by negotiating new contract with Ticketmaster. Improved customer service, marketing and communication efforts. Developed e-commerce capabilities by implementing on-line ticketing. Established new record for football season ticket sales. Sold allotment of 12,000 Independence Bowl tickets.

• Reorganized annual giving program doubling the number of donors and increased total annual contributions to the program by 75 percent. Developed marketing efforts to strengthen outreach and established an agenda for growth. Implemented new giving plan for 1,150 new chair-back seats for football.

• Led a national search in January of 2010 to hire head football coach Sonny Dykes from the University of Arizona. Was instrumental in hiring head women's basketball coach in Women's Basketball Hall of Fame member Teresa Weatherspoon.

• In 2010, the Louisiana Tech athletic department earned the PRISM Award for excellence in athletics management under Van De Velde's leadership.

•Organized a $20 million fund raising campaign for Louisiana Tech athletics "Quest for Excellence." Oversaw the development of the design of a new $20 million athletic sports complex.

Tech has also seen plenty of success on the fields and courts since Van De Velde's arrival at Tech as the Bulldog football team captured its first bowl victory in more than 30 years with the 2008 Independence Bowl title. The Lady Techster basketball team won the 2009 regular season Western Athletic Conference title and the 2010 WAC Tournament title, and the women's indoor and outdoor track and field teams won both the 2009 and 2010 league titles.

The University's student-athletes have also seen success in the classroom since his arrival on campus as this past year saw eight of the 16 program's record their highest multi-year APR ever and seven record their highest single-year APR ever. During the 2009-10 season, Tech saw 94 student-athletes earn Academic all-WAC honors for their work in the classrooms while senior sprinter Antoinette Cobb earned the Honda Inspiration Award for her work both on the track and in the classroom while overcoming a battle with cancer.

Van De Velde came to Tech with impressive credentials, having served as an administrator in intercollegiate athletics for over 20 years. Van De Velde served as athletics director at Iowa State University and Utah State University and as a senior administrator at the University of Oklahoma, University of Missouri and Kansas State University.

Van De Velde's tenure at Iowa State University included an unprecedented five bowl appearances in six years and the highest national AP football poll ranking (9th) in school history. Iowa State's 2001 average football attendance of 45,172 reached its highest watermark in 18 years. In 2002 and 2003, total football attendance exceeded 300,000; the most at ISU in two decades.

The emergence of the Cyclone football program on a national stage with Van De Velde at the department helm was affirmed in 2002 when Iowa State was chosen to play No. 1 Florida State University in the Eddie Robinson Classic. During Van De Velde's tenure at Iowa State, the men's and women's basketball teams won Big XII conference championships and participated in the 2001, 2002 and 2005 NCAA basketball tournaments.

Van De Velde, with a track record for generating revenue, increased the total annual operating revenues for the Cyclone athletic department from $19.6 million to $30 million dollars over a five year period. Revenue generated from fundraising, ticket sales, marketing and corporate sponsorships, licensing, radio and television reached all-time highs during his tenure.

In 2005, total fundraising increased from $4.85 million to $8.6 million and the annual giving achieved the highest membership total in its history with more than 5,500 donors participating and a record $4 million dollars in annual contributions. Under Van De Velde's leadership, over 2,000 new donors joined the National Cyclone Club. Including capital project gifts, scholarship endowments and annual contributions, over $40 million dollars was raised from 2001 through 2005.

Iowa State's graduation rate of 89 percent for student-athletes who complete their eligibility was second in the Big XII Conference, and graduation rates for minority student-athletes more than tripled during Van De Velde's tenure. In 2004-05, Iowa State was one of eight universities nationally to have its football team win a bowl game and have its men and women's basketball teams participate in the NCAA tournament. The Sporting News in 2001 rated Iowa State as the seventh best athletic program among more than 115 NCAA Division I-A programs nationally. The ranking considered competitive success, graduation rates, fan support and NCAA compliance to determine national rank.

During his time as athletic director at Utah State University, Van De Velde made his mark by hiring Stew Morrill as the head men's basketball coach. Morrill has guided Utah State to nine straight postseason tournaments and is the winningest coach in the history of the Utah State program.

While serving as the associate athletic director for football operations under head coach Bill Snyder at Kansas State University, Van De Velde was part of the resurrection of Wildcat football in Manhattan as the program became a national power participating in five bowl games. Van De Velde was recipient of the Admiral U.S. Grant Sharp Award at the 1997 Holiday Bowl for his contributions to the Kansas State football team when the nationally ranked Wildcats finished with a 10-2 record.

As the senior associate athletic for external affairs at the University of Oklahoma, Van De Velde served as the senior administrative officer for the athletic department and oversaw the areas of fundraising, marketing, corporate sponsorships, ticket sales, media relations and licensing. Van De Velde managed units that generated in excess of $35 million in annual revenues.

Van De Velde directed the Campaign for Sooner Sports, a $100 million dollar capital campaign to fund facility improvements and scholarships. As associate athletic director for development at the University of Missouri, Van De Velde planned and initiated a $50 million dollar capital campaign for facility improvements for the Sports Park at MU.

Van De Velde received the General Robert Neiland Award from the National Football Foundation in 2005 for his service and contributions as an athletic director.

Throughout his career in college athletics, Van De Velde has served on numerous NCAA committees including the Championships and Competition Cabinet, the Football Issues Committee, the Financial Aid Committee and the Peer Review Committee for NCAA certification.

He and his wife Debbie, who is a Kansas State alum and who works in the LA Tech College of Business, are the proud parents of 10-year-old daughter, Ashley who is entering the fourth grade.

MARY KAY HUNGATE

Deputy Athletics Director/
Senior Woman Administrator

Deputy Athletics Director and Senior Woman Administrator Mary Kay Hungate returns for her 26th year as a member of the Louisiana Tech athletics department and has proven to be an integral part in the recent emergence of the Tech teams on the playing fields and in the classroom.

Not only does Hungate serve as the sports administrator for men's and women's basketball, women's soccer, softball, women's tennis, women's bowling and women's volleyball, but she is also in charge of NCAA compliance for all of the university's 16 NCAA sanctioned programs.

As one of the top two ranking administrators in the Tech athletics department, Hungate is part of a senior staff that has been instrumental in garnering a number of national awards, including the 2010 Turnkey PRISM Award - which recognizes colleges for managerial excellence across four areas: marketing/branding; fan development; community relations; and customer/client service.

The Tech athletics department has also finished in the Top 10 the past two years in the Excellence in Management Cup, which recognizes the most efficient athletic departments in the nation.

Hungate serves a vital role in the hiring of coaches. Hungate proved instrumental in the decision by former Tech Kodak All-American and WNBA All-Star Teresa Weatherspoon - who played for Hungate in the late-80s - to return to Louisiana Tech in June of 2008. Weatherspoon was promoted to head coach in February of 2009 where she led the Lady Techsters to the WAC regular season title and a berth in the WNIT. This past season, she led Tech to the 2010 WAC Tournament title and a return to the NCAA Tournament.

She also served as the point person in the hiring process of head women's soccer coach Kevin Sherry and head women's volleyball coach Matt Sonnichsen. Sherry led the Lady Techster soccer team to two straight winning seasons the past two years - the first in program history - and the program's first ever WAC victory.

In only his second season at the helm, Sonnichsen, who was a three-time All-American and two-time National Champion during his playing days at UCLA, led the Lady Techsters to 15 wins - the most since 2005 - as well as a program record in WAC victories.

Another of Hungate's responsibilities includes overseeing the academic side of the Tech athletics department, another area which has improved drastically as proven by the fact LA Tech's graduation rate continues to be one of the highest in the state (Federal Graduation Report), including ranking No. 1 in the state of Louisiana and the Western Athletic Conference in recent years.

This past year eight of the 16 NCAA sanctioned programs at LA Tech earn their highest multi-year APR score ever while 94 student-athletes earned Academic all-WAC honors.

Hungate also plays an important role in LA Tech's NCAA Certification process. As a member of the Steering Committee and the liaison between the athletic department and the University's Self Study Committees, she provides the information needed for the committees to write their reports. In 2006, LA Tech completed its second NCAA Certification cycle and once again was certified without conditions.

Hungate joined the Louisiana Tech staff in 1985 as an assistant women's basketball coach and remained in that role for five years. During that time, the Lady Techsters participated in four Final Fours and won the NCAA National Championship in 1988.

In 1990, Hungate made a move out of coaching and became assistant athletics director for academics and compliance as well as senior woman administrator. One of Hungate's early accomplishments as assistant director of athletics was the creation of the Louisiana Tech Athletic Academic Center program.

Hungate has served terms on the NCAA Division I Academics/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet, the NCAA Division I Interpretations/Legislative Review Subcommittee, the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletics Administrators Wade Trophy Selection Committee and as an NCAA Peer Reviewer. She has also served on the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Issues Committee since 2004.

She currently serves on the Western Athletic Conference Council, the Conferences' Legislative Review Committee, the Finance Committee and the Code Book Committee. In addition, along with Athletics Director Bruce Van De Velde, she represents the athletics department as an ex-officio member of the LA Tech Athletics Council.

Hungate's professional career began as Women's Sports Coordinator and head volleyball, head basketball and head softball coach at Illinois' Carl Sandburg Junior College. She spent four seasons at the college where she guided the basketball team to a mark of 80-22 which included an 11th place finish in the 1976 NJCAA national tournament.

In 1978 Hungate took over the head coaching position at Richwoods High School in Peoria, Ill., and quickly compiled one of the top prep coaching records in the nation.

During her seven seasons at Richwoods High School, Hungate's team ran up an impressive record of 195-13, including a state-record 63 consecutive victories. Hungate was named the National Coach of the Year by USA Today in 1985. Before coming to Louisiana Tech, Hungate amassed a career coaching record of 275-35.

ERIC BUSKIRK

Associate Athletics Director/ External Affairs

Eric Buskirk enters his fourth season as the associate athletics director for external affairs at Louisiana Tech University.

Buskirk directs fundraising, corporate sponsorships, ticket sales, community relations, licensing, branding, marketing, promotions, video board productions, and the Learfield Sports partnership for Louisiana Tech athletics. Buskirk is a member of the NACMA Board of Directors, and is also an adjunct professor in the College of Business for an advanced level sports management course.

Under Buskirk's direction, Louisiana Tech's external affairs have seen a wave of new developments, and national recognition for its accomplishments. LA Tech athletics has reached record totals in all three major revenue generating areas including fundraising, season ticket sales and corporate sponsorships. Buskirk's external team was named the winner of the 2010 PRISM Awards for department excellence, and has been selected as the NCAA Pack the House Challenge winner three years in a row.

The revenue generating advancements have been supported by the addition of multiple strategic business processes being installed. The advancements include the creation of LTAC, Team Tech 100 and the LA Tech Kids Club in the fundraising area. Ticketmaster was contracted to implement the full Archtics ticketing package, and a newly formed call center was established to support the tickets sales efforts.

Under Buskirk's first two years leading the external affairs department, corporate sponsorships tripled with a restructured sponsorship sales approach, and advancements will continue as Learfield Sports was contracted to officially operate LA Tech Sports Properties, officially beginning operations for the 2009 season. Additional upgrades include contracting Rickabaugh Graphics as a part of the rebranding of new logos, and the partnership with CBS sports as the official website provider for LA Tech athletics.

The external affairs advancements have also made way for a new Daktronics state-of-the-art high definition video display scoreboard for the 2009 season. The HD-16 mm video display board will be the largest in the Western Athletic Conference.

Buskirk came to Louisiana Tech after working at UTSA as the assistant athletic director for external affairs. Buskirk oversaw the external affairs areas of fundraising, marketing, corporate sponsorships, ticket sales, merchandising, trademark licensing, branding, website revenue generation, courtesy car program, promotions and spirit squad, along with being the assistant tournament manager for NCAA Championships including the NCAA Final Four.

During his time at UTSA, Buskirk was recognized as one of the "Top 40 under 40" Rising Stars by the San Antonio Business Journal.

Under his direction, UTSA athletics experienced a dramatic increase in its external components, including more than doubling corporate sponsorship revenue in Buskirk's first 12 months directing the department. Buskirk was instrumental in negotiating with XOS Technologies to be the official website provider of UTSA athletics while also instituting the UTSA athletics re-branding campaign.

Buskirk was heavily involved in the direction of the NCAA Championships that the City of San Antonio hosts. He was the assistant tournament manager and directed marketing efforts for the 2006 NCAA Volleyball Championship, 2006 NCAA Women's Basketball San Antonio Regional, and the 2007 NCAA Men's Basketball South Regional. Buskirk was also a key committee member for the 2008 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Final Four hosted by UTSA.

WESTERN ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

In its nearly 50 years of existence, the Western Athletic Conference continues to evolve and feature some of the nation's best intercollegiate competition. One thing that remains unchanged is the persistent nature of the nine schools in the WAC to advance their programs to contend at the top levels of the NCAA.

The WAC provides its student-athletes the chance to travel to scenic destinations and gain exposure in some of the nation's most diverse markets. In addition, the WAC's student-athletes work to achieve the highest levels of success with the academic support of their respective institutions.

The WAC has experienced tremendous success. The WAC has sent a total of 31 teams to bowl games since 2001, including more than half of its teams in 2008 with a record-tying five teams. Boise State has won 102 football games since joining the conference, the most in the nation during that time span (2001-09). The conference has sent teams to BCS bowl games in three of the last four seasons as Boise State made a repeat appearance with a victory in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl this past year following Hawai'i's 2008 Sugar Bowl and Boise State's unforgettable victory in the 2007 Fiesta Bowl. In men's basketball, the WAC has sent at least two teams to the NCAA Tournament in 24 of the past 27 seasons. Every current school in the WAC has competed in the NCAA Tournament since 1990. In baseball, the WAC has boasted two national champions since 2003 including Fresno State's College World Series victory in 2008. In women's sports, Fresno State softball has competed in every NCAA Tournament ever held while Louisiana Tech basketball has played in all but three. In 2009, Hawai'i made its fourth trip to the NCAA Volleyball Final Four since 2000.

Current WAC alums have made their presence felt as well. David Carr (Fresno State) was the first player selected in the 2002 NFL Draft. Cheryl Ford (Louisiana Tech) was named the WNBA Rookie of the Year and helped the Detroit Shock win the league's championship in 2003. In 2004, the United States' softball team won the Olympic gold medal with former Fresno State players Laura Berg and Lovie Jung. Jeff Weaver (Fresno State) earned the win in the St. Louis Cardinals' World Series clinching victory in 2006. Quarterback Colt Brennan (Hawai'i) finished third in the 2007 Heisman Trophy voting, and in 2008, Natasha Kai (Hawai'i) helped the United States to a gold medal in soccer at the Olympics in Beijing.

In 2001, the WAC partnered with ESPN for coverage of football and basketball giving the conference national exposure from one of the most respected broadcast entities in the country. An extension was signed in 2008 that guarantees over 300 regular season WAC contests and 45 championship events will be aired on the ESPN networks through the spring of 2017. The WAC also officially added WAC.tv in 2006 to give fans streaming internet access to many of its postseason championships including volleyball, soccer, swimming and diving, basketball, gymnastics, softball and baseball.

The WAC is the sixth oldest among the nation's 11 Division I-A conferences. Its history traces back to July 27, 1962, when the original six-team league of Arizona, Arizona State, Brigham Young, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming began competition.

The first championship was held in November 1962, when Arizona won the men's cross country title and New Mexico followed with the first WAC football title. Arizona finished second in the NCAA College World Series and, less than three years later, Arizona State claimed the league's first NCAA title when the Sun Devils won the College World Series trophy. Fresno State was the last WAC school to earn an NCAA team title when it won the College World Series in 2008.

Since 1962, several changes have occurred. UTEP and Colorado State became members in September 1967, while Arizona and Arizona State withdrew on June 30, 1978. The WAC then added San Diego State (1978), Hawai'i (1979) and Air Force (1980). Before 1990, the WAC sponsored championships only in men's sports. However, a merger with the High Country Athletic Conference formed a single conference under one administrative structure, and the 1990-91 athletic year was the first in which both men and women competed under the WAC name. Fresno State was added in 1992, and then in 1996, the women's programs from Air Force and Hawai'i along with six new schools (UNLV, Rice, San Jose State, SMU, TCU and Tulsa) came into the WAC. Air Force, Brigham Young, Colorado State, UNLV, New Mexico, San Diego State, Utah and Wyoming withdrew on June 30, 1999. Nevada (2000), Boise State (2001) and Louisiana Tech (2001) were added while TCU withdrew following the 2000-01 season. The current membership was established on July 1, 2005, when Idaho, New Mexico State and Utah State joined the WAC after Rice, SMU, UTEP and Tulsa withdrew.

The WAC has had just five commissioners in its history. Paul Brechler was named the first leader of the conference and held the position from 1962-1968. He was followed by Wiles Hallock (1968-71), Stan Bates (1971-80), Dr. Joe Kearney (1980-94) and Karl Benson (1994-present).

Presently, the WAC crowns team and individual champions in 19 sports – eight men's and 11 women's. For the men, there are championships in baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, tennis, indoor track and field and outdoor track and field. Championships for women are held in basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, soccer, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field and volleyball.

The WAC office has been located in the Denver area since the conference's inception with the exception of a two-year stay in Phoenix from 1964-66.
